DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's election with traverse of Group II, species carpet, polyamide, azoxystrobin & permethrin in the reply filed on 5/3/2010 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that The groups are of inter-related subject matter, and not burdensome to examine.

This is not found persuasive because PAGE has the textile material, surface treated or combined with fungicide, and thus the instant invention is neither novel nor demonstrative of special technical features. However, we will examine Groups I and II

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

ClaimS 6 AND 19-24 stand withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species & invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 5/3/2010

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,2,11,12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by PAGE 246335 cotton-fabric is immersed in naphthalene, an anilide compound, and is mildew proof.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5,7-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over IDA et al 3769060 in view of HENNEN et al 3837988, SUH et al 6117440 and BARAZAN WO 02/35930 A2 .

At IDA cloths, textile materials including carpets (col 1, lines 7-11) are combined with moth and an anilide fungicide-mildew proofing agents (col 5, lines 32-43 and col 12, lines 17-39). The textiles are not limited;they include polyester (col 36, line 50)& polyamide (Example 37, nylon).

The amount of processing agents is 20-40% of the textile surface and 0.05-25% by weight (col 14, lines 22-26, 52-55), thus meeting instant claims 8 & 9.

HENNEN also provides polyester and polyamide (col 5, lines 3-5) carpets with fungicides (Example 2), 2%, 0.4#cu ft of fungicide is applied. The fungicide would be mostly below the surface, considering how it was applied (col 3, 5) thus meeting instant claims 7 ,and 8 ,9,17 & 18 levels, since the application methods would have resulted in most of the fungicides being below the surface(col. 3,5). Neither reference applied permethrin acaracides.

SUH shows permethrin effective, but expensive (col 3, top) in carpets (col 2, lines 53-55).

BORAZANI provides the instant polymeric sheets or carpets with incorporated pesticides (Example 2, pages 13-14, 16, 17).

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made desiring to protect fabrics & carpeting to use any of art recognized means, as of IDA modified, as desired to increase to add the acaricide, permethrin, as shown by SUH, in order to protect against mites, with the processing agents of IDA and HENNEN and further the fungicides such as azoxystrobin shown to be incorporated with permethrin by BARAZANI.

All the critical elements of the instant are disclosed. The amounts and proportions of each ingredient are result effective parameters chosen to obtain the desired effects. It would be obvious to vary the form of each ingredient to optimize the effect desired, depending upon the particular species and application method of interest, reduction of toxicity, cost minimization, enhanced, and prolonged, or synergistic effects.

Applicant has not provided any objective evidence of criticality, nonobvious or unexpected results that the administration of the particular ingredients' or concentrations provides any greater or different level of prior art expectation as claimed, and the use of ingredient for the functionality for which they are known to be used is not basis for patentability.

The instant invention provides well known old art recognized compounds, with well known art recognized effects, applied by well known art recognized methods to achieve improved control as is well known in the art.
